Annual report 2022 - 2023.

Date.....

Our judicial area of work accounts for 19% of all live births worldwide and 20% of all maternal death. Low level of maternal care service coupled with young mothers giving birth too many children at shorter intervals, further contributes to increase the level of infant and maternal mortality. Only few women receive all the recommended antenatal care to ensure safe delivery of a normal healthy child. Infant mortality rate and mother mortality rate are important health indicators for any community. The infrastructure available at sub centers, primary health centers are lagging behind the national norms and are inadequate to serve the population effectively. These all give birth a child with poor APGAR scores. Child survival may be defined as interval between a life birth and death before reaching his/her 5th birthday. This is a crucial period when fast growth in all direction of development takes place.

The crucial question is to strike a balance between the rate of child birth, the condition of child birth and the rate of their physical development.

The development of children in a rural family is depending on father's occupation and education is important factors that affect the risk of child development. It is generally observed that child development is best among highly skilled occupational group. It is more probable that socio-economic conditions adverse to the child development exist in the family. Low maternal education, poor housing, low income and limited access to and use of health service.

At annul meet we are happy to thank our beneficiaries who have come to Srajan Spastic Society for their assessment, diagnosis, early intervention, early enrichment and education programmes. Professional and beneficiary's strong relationship and their frequent follow-ups for the wellbeing were seen throughout year.

We will always emphasize on our object of counseling, diagnosing and socializing our beneficiaries to full of strength. For this in mind Society has invited 122 Gram Pradhans as partners of our work and extends our work's benefit to every person of village, to reduce impact and their people with special need. Training of 50 Aganwadi workers to identify the special children (0 to 6 years) at their respective work place.

Teaching through play in child development is the best way for their normal development of all direction. Play is the best method for children's social development and interaction among peer group.

We are always thankful to our donors for their financial support. We also thankful to Government authority for their timely guidance by their visits. Being in rural and working with socio-economic families and limited trained professionals we have faced financial problems. We need more no. of professionals for our work which can be possible by right approach and good financial status. Hope we will meet it with out aim which is non-political, non-religious and non-profit making with a single motto "Human welfare".

Warm Regards.
