In this center trainees are providing training in field of Manual Art known as Handicraft. The main aim of this programme is to make the trainees so skilled that they may become self-dependent and stand on their own feet.

The majority of country's population depends on livelihoods derived from natural resources, land forest, crops water and minerals etc. The continued degradation and diminution of these resources threaten the economic and social security of individuals, communities and states, as well as the intricate web of ecological, social, economic and cultural relations that binds global community. As farmers lose the ability to produce crops and raise live-stock due to environmental degradation and insecure land tenure as communities depended on forest see them destroyed as drought parches previously productive areas, urban centres swell with millions of destitute migrants who join the growing ranks of the under employed. All too often these urban centres become unhealthy receptacles of human and industrial toxic waste while the poor and disenfranchised become likely targets for ideologies of hate and violence.

We have to make farm livelihood more sustainable by providing technology and equipment to level land, bounding it for soil and moisture conservation, improving access to irrigation facilities and drainage and evolving a cropping pattern which does not exert pressure on land and water. Horticulture and agro forestry are farm based activities having potential to support and promote sustainable agriculture.

Non-farm based activities include animal husbandry, dairying, piggery, guttery, backyard poultry, pisciculture, sericulture, setting up kiosk to vend vegetables, bamboo mats and furniture making and operating way side bicycle repair shops etc. Food and agro processing and small scale industries are included in non-farm sector.

Loving, creative, productive, physical work is an exercise, joy and a pleasure. It is enforced leisure and idleness that torture man. By giving jobs to more people, by employing low investment, yet efficient and appropriate technology, decentralized production, value addition and marketing of produce vocational training, micro-enterprise development will go a long way in providing gainful employment, poverty alleviation.

The growing problem of unemployment warrants imparting of vocational education keeping in view the following issues:

- ☐ There is need to sensitize people on the importance of skill training/vocational education in the context of the problem of unemployment.
- ☐ The vocational courses should be need-based, keeping in mind the constantly changing requirements of technologies/industries
- ☐ Vocational courses must have a in-built flexibility to allow student to switch courses with changes in demands
- ☐ Vocational courses should be borne in the services sector
- ☐ The vocational education scheme should focus on the capacity of local industry to absorb student of a particular trade
- ☐ Excess supply of students to a particular trade needs to be avoided and
- ☐ Urgent attention needs to be given to training vocational of education teachers.

Considering very high level of unemployment in the tribal areas, the MAA SAVASAN MAHILA MANDAL, has started skill development/vocational education for Income generation programme on regular basis at districts.

There are problems relating to high drop- out rates, low level of illiteracy in the tribal areas, the MAA SAVASAN MAHILA MANDAL, BETUL started various activities for promoting education in Betul district of Madhya Pradesh State.
